SATURDAY, MARCH 3. Hawaiian Reports-Volume II.

We are indebted to His Honor Judge Davis for a copy of the "Reports of a portion of the Decisions rendered by the Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands, in law, equity, admiralty and probate." The first volume was prepared by Judge Robertson, in 1857, and embraced the decisions of the Court from its organization to 1856. The present volume is a continuation of the same, and covers the decisions from 1857 to 1865, making an octavo volume of 797 pages, printed at the Government Press. The work has been edited by Judge Davis, who has devoted to it much labor and care during the past eight months. It embraces 39 cases in law, 31 cases in admiralty, 18 cases in equity-among which are some of the most important suits ever tried in our Courts, such as the Point Property case, the Montgomery case, the Jarrett and Manini case, and others more or less prominent, involving decisions in every branch of law. Besides there are several probate and several habeas corpus and mandamus cases. To the legal profession and to all who are interested in law or law suits, these reports are invaluable, as they contain decisions on various points of law, which have become established as precedents for any future similar cases.

These volumes will tend to give character to our Courts, not merely in the kingdom but abroad, wherever they become known. In conversation with a member of the New York bar last summer, he narrated an incident which serves to illustrate: In an important suit before the New York Superior Court, this gentleman introduced, in the course of his argument, the first volume of Hawaiian Reports to sustain him, remarking at the same time that he hoped that the Court would lay none the less weight on the decision he produced because the volume was not found in the library of the Court, or because it embraced simply the decisions of one of the youngest in the family of nations. After the lawyer had cited the case, the Judge called for the volume, carefully examined its contents, and, in his decision on the suit in question, which involved a large property, paid a handsome tribute to the Hawaiian Courts, and remarked that the decisions therein recorded showed legal talent coupled with diligent study, not surpassed in any similar work that he knew of. He moreover quoted from the Hawaiian Reports, in giving his decision, and the suit resulted favorably to the lawyer who intro-

In some respects the second volume is an improvement on the first. The index at the close is very copious, and gives the substance of the various suits. In the fore part a full table is given of the cases reported. The rules of the Court are also published. The printing is well executed on new and fair type, and the binding also was done here by Mr. Vollum, showing that we have artisans capable of executing work as well as it can be done elsewhere.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

About Brick-Making .- Experiments have been in progress at the foundry during the past few weeks for the purpose of testing the qualities of our soil for making bricks, which have resulted very satisfactorily. They were made by Mr. J. G. Osborne, a German who recently arrived from New Zealand, and though a mason by trade, is fully conversant with the art of making bricks. Our soil, though not so clayey as in other countries, is found to possess the principal qualities required for this purpose. The red lava soil that abounds almost everywhere, when united in proper proportions with the black lava sand, produces a good strong article of bricks, as the samples at Mr. Hughes' office will attest. After making further experiments, and manufacturing a few thousand bricks from different soils, Mr. Osborne proposes to erect machinery to manufacture them on as large a scale as may be required. Our consumption at present amounts to five or six hundred thousand per annum, but if they could be furnished at a more reasonable price, so as to allow of their being used for erecting dwellings and stores, we see no reason why a market may not be opened for ten times the number. It may not be generally known that bricks have been made at the islands before. The old two-story house on the premises known as Beretania at Lahaina, near the large trees on the shore near the lighthouse, was built about fifty years ago of bricks made out of the red soil found on the hills back of Lahaina. The house was formerly occupied as a dwelling, then as a barber-shop, and more recently as a store-house by Gilman & Co. It is now out of repair and going to decay; but it shows that good bricks have been and can be made out of our native soils. We wish Mr. Osborne success in his en-

A rumor is on the street that the steamship Ajax will not return to this port. Captain Moore, the Company's agent, assured us previous to her departure, that she would return immediately, and that a second steamer would be put on as soon as the trade calls for it. From San Francisco our advices are that she would be dispatched at once for Honolulu. She must have arrived over by the 22d of February, and would leave by the 3d of March (to-day), so that she may be expected by the 12th to the 15th inst. Her agents here are receiving freight for her at current rates, and no fears need be entertained as to her returning, nor as to the permanency of a steamer line, though some other vessel may be put on in place of the Ajax, should she be found too large. A liberal support from our merchants and planfers is all that is required to secure steam between the two Kingsford's and Clark's Corn Starch
New white Homony

A Novel Ice-House.—On discharging the cargo

perature of her hold was found to be unusually cold, and everything that came out of it appeared half frozen. On Tuesday the cause was discovered, for in breaking out the lumber, it was found actually frozen together, so that a crowbar was necessary to separate the planks, the ice around which was an inch or more thick. Several buckets-full of ice were secured by the staring natives, who enjoyed it with a little fresh cider.-all direct from Oregon. It seems that the Eldridge loaded at Portland during a heavy snowstorm, and the planks were stowed away in her hold covered with snow and ice, which remained compact till brought out into sunlight on the wharf here. The apples, though over forty days on board, were discharged in fine

THE COURT HOUSE-During the past week, has been repainted and the walls inside tastefully colored. The spacious halls of justice now present so attractive an appearance that we fear the temptation to go to law will be irresistible with many who are sometimes undecided on the subject. We certainly are inspired with no ill motives when we wish the judges and jurymen no increase of business.

A NEW COASTER.-By an item among our commercial news, the purchase of the United States revenue cutter Forward by Captain Chapell will be noticed. We understand that she is intended for the island trade, and was to leave New London in January for Honolulu. She is a beautiful clipper model, well built, and has for years been in government service as a revenue cutter, but as the old sail craft are being superseded by steam cutters, her sale was ordered. We understand that she is in fine order and has her original armament. She has a topsail schooner rig, similar to the Nahienaena. If not sold, she will enter the coasting service, for which we judge she is well adapted. She may be expected out in May or June.

LADIES' BENEVOLENT SOCIETY .-- If the multitude of bright smiling faces and sparkling eyes that appeared on Thursday evening at Makiki, is any evidence, the affairs of this society are in a most flourishing condition. The music and singing were of the first order, even beside that of Madame Bishop and Lascelles, and shows that we have resident artists who are worthy of the name, though they may not have had the honor of appearing on a stage. To add to the pleasure of the evening, the moon came out in all her beauty,

"Hung like a gem on the brow of the sky
And turning the clouds, as they pass her, to light,"

72 Messrs. Nolte & Kruger are in receipt of an article of Virginia smoking tobacco, in packages of as many and varied colors as Joseph's coat is said to have been composed of. This tobacco was put up in the "hard times" of the rebellion, for it is placed in bags of one-half, one-third and one-quarter of a pound each, the bags being made from almost every variety of ladies dresses, from cotton check to spotted linen, from fine silk and moire antique to chintz and curtain stuff. It is presumed that the tobacco was thus bagged from lack of other material, and offered the soldiers the opportunity when they purchased their supplies to have a pouch thrown in. The tobacco itself is of very superior adality, mild and very fragrant. The "style" at least is nove, and the article worthy the attention of " lovers of the weed."

We are glad to report the safety of the schooner Alberni, which returned to this port on the 1st instant. She lay on the rocks near Waimea two days, and on the third day, after her cargo was taken out, Captain Clark succeeded by the help of kedge anchors, in getting her off, with the loss of her keel and rudder. A temporary rudder was made, which enabled her to return to this port, though she leaked on the passage up, and will at once be hove down and repaired.

The light north wind, which set in on Thursday night, brought in a fleet of coasters, and made the wharves quite busy during Friday. The Emeline had an immense cargo, and the wharf where she discharged was piled up with boxes of oranges, kegs of sugar, bags of coffee, pulu and fungus, besides thousands of cocoanuts, bundles of cane, and other produce in endless variety.

As Good as New .- The bark Comet, which has been for several weeks repairing, is now fully completed and taking in cargo. She has been recoppered and had a large number of knees and joints put in strengthening her frame very much. She has also been repainted throughout, and a was in better order for sea than now. She will leave for San Francisco next Tuesday, in charge of Captain A. Fuller.

AMERICAN HOUSE .- This new hotel, on Beretania street, was opened on Thursday last, under the management of Mr. Kirchhoff, late of the Aldrich House. The premises have undergone a complete change during the month, and the air of comfort and ease that pervades them is a perfect contrast to the close, barricaded look they had. We doubt not the proprietor will find his choice of a location one of the best in Honolulu, while the public and strangers will find the "American" a favorite papers of January 2d, we observe that Colonel Jas. F. B. Marshall, formerly of Honolulu, has been appointed by Governor Andrew to be Brigadier-General of the Massachusetts Militia. the purpose of procuring a fire engine. We are

APPLES.—By the Eldridge a liberal supply of this delicious fruit was received from Oregon direct, of which our market had been nearly bare for several weeks. The demand for apples seems to be on the increase, if we may judge from the rapidity with which they are disposed of. NEXT MAIL.-The British ship Lottie Maria was to sail from San Francisco about February 17th to 20th, and may touch here—due March 6th to 10th. The steamer Ajax will be due March 10th to 15th, and will bring the New York mail of February 1st. We suppose she leaves San Francisco to-day

Those Benches Once More. Mr. Editor: -By some mistake, the point of my short letter of February 12th in regard to "those benches," was lost. It should have read as follows: The undersigned would hereby express the thanks of such of the public as are interested, as well as his own, to Mr. S. N. Castle for his account, in your paper of the 2d instant, of the transfer of sixty dollars from the Government School Treasury, to the Government School Treasurer of Kau; which (transfer) is, it seems, what was referred to by the Government organ in its issue of January 13th, when it speaks of a grant having been made by the Board of Education to the boarding-school for girls

"It is an interesting history. An unabridged history might however be written, still more interesting and instructive than that written by Mr. Castle. The words above in italics, were by accident omitted in your issue of February 17th. Respectfully yours. Waialua, Oahu, Feb. 26, 1866. O. H. GULICK.
